THIRD ARMY DRIVING ON BERCHTESGADEN

FORCES OF LT. GEN. PATCH SENT FROM CAPTURED MUNICH AGAINST THE BRENNER PASS

Patton's Eleventh Armored Division Crosses Austrian Border In Force At Oberkappel, a City Germans Said Is Being Approached by Russians

WOULD TRAP NAZIS IN BOHEMIA AND MORAVIA

By AUSTIN BEALMEAR

Paris, May 1—(AP)—The Third Army crashed southward to within 53 miles of Berchtesgaden today as Lt. Gen. Alexander M. Patch sent his Seventh Army from captured Munich against Innsbruck and the Brenner Pass.

The Third Army entered Griesbach in its closest approach to Hitler's roost in the Alpine redoubt. The town near the Austrian border is 16 miles from Hitler's birthplace at Braunau and 47 from Salzburg, eastern rampart of the final Nazi hideaway.

Patton's 11th Armored Division crossed the Austrian border in force at Oberkappel, 27 miles northwest of Linz—a city which the Germans said was being approached by the Russians from west of Vienna. A meeting would hem in Czechoslovakia and trap all the Germans in Bohemia and Moravia.

Allied Landing On Borneo Is Tokyo Claim

BULLETIN

Manila, May 1—(AP)—An Allied invasion of oil-rich Borneo, first reported by radio today, was practically confirmed tonight by official Australian sources. The Japanese said Allied amphibious assault forces hit near Tarakan, great oil shipping port off the northeast coast of Dutch Borneo and that the Nipponese garrison was putting up a heavy fight.

BULLETIN

Canberra, May 1—(AP)—Treasury Minister Joseph B. Chifley told the house tonight that a famous division of Australian troops which had fought in the middle east was now participating in an action against the Japanese in Borneo.

San Francisco, May 1—(AP)—Allied assault forces swinging southward into the oil-producing areas of the Dutch East Indies are reported today in an unconfirmed broadcast.

Tokyo said amphibious units were engaged in heavy fighting with the Japanese garrison on beaches near Tarakan, rich Netherlands oil port off the northeastern coast of Borneo.

The broadcast, recorded by the Federal Communications Commission, said assault waves struck in force last night under cover of a heavy naval bombardment after an earlier landing attempt at noon yesterday was thrown back.

Invasion of Tarakan would be a continuation of the American drive southward through the Philippines and the beginning of an amphibious operation to return valuable oil-producing areas to the Allies and bisect the Dutch East Indies.

Tarakan, a favorite target of American bombers which raided Borneo every day in April and all but seven days of March, lies midway between key Allied-held points and strategic Japanese-controlled cities. It lies on the northern approaches to Makassar Strait, 800 miles south of Manila, 800 miles north of Soerabaya, Java, 1,000 miles west of New Guinea, and 900 miles east of Saigon, Indo-China.

Tarakan is a small island off the northeast coast of Borneo, an easy jump from American-held Tawitawi in the Sulu archipelago.

BULLETINS

Tenth Army Headquarters, Okinawa, May 1—(AP)—Lt. Gen. Simon Bolivar Buckner, Jr., today summed up tersely the remaining objective of the Okinawa campaign: to "kill as many Japanese as possible as soon as possible with the least loss to us."

Paris, May 1—(AP)—Supreme headquarters announced today that two war correspondents accredited to it had been suspended, but refused to permit other correspondents to disclose their identity or tell the reasons for its action.

Chungking, May 1—(AP)—The high command said tonight that 254 Japanese had been killed in Chinese attacks against an enemy column driving on the American air base at Chihkiang, in western Hunan province.

San Francisco, May 1—(AP)—Tokyo radio today reported a drastic shakeup in Japan's naval command with Adm. Soemu Toyoda, commander-in-chief of the Nipponese fleet, heading a new overall naval command.

Sordid End for "Little Caesar"

(New York Times Radiophoto from NEA Telephoto) Benito Mussolini, Fascism's "Little Caesar," lies dead, his head resting on the breast of his mistress, Clara Petacci, after he and 16 others of his retinue were shot by partisans. An Italian mob hung the former dictator's body, head down, on exhibition in Milan, ironically the city in which Fascism was born.

By GEORGE BRIA

Milan, May 1—(AP)—The beaten, misshapen corpse of Benito Mussolini lay in a rude, wooden coffin in the Milan morgue today awaiting further disposition, while conflicting reports spread over the fate of his military chief, Marshal Rodolfo Graziani. Italian partisans, revering their own patriot dead, attended funeral services and held demonstrations throughout the city for their comrades who fell to Fascist and German bullets earlier in the week. From all appearances, leftist groups had achieved efficient organization in Milan.

Rome, May 1—(AP)—Marshal Rodolfo Graziani is "a prisoner of war in Allied hands," an authoritative military officer said today. Capture of the commander in chief of Fascist troops by Italian patriots was announced Saturday. Graziani was permitted to broadcast from a radio station in northern Italy, the officer said, but his statement was not available here immediately.

West Side Youth Killed In Action; Another Listed Safe

Mr. and Mrs. Felice Graziano, 1109 Spring street, have received word that their son, S/Sgt. William T. Graziano, was killed in action April 10 in Winterborn, Germany.

Born in Warren June 2, 1920, he was graduated from St. Joseph's parochial school and attended Warren High School. Prior to his enlistment he was employed by the Struthers-Wells Corporation.

He enlisted in service February 5, 1943, and served with the Military Police in Fort Monroe, Va., until he was transferred to Camp Pickett, Va., to train for the infantry. He went overseas in October, 1944, serving with the 78th "Lightning" Division of the Ninth Army.

He is survived by his parents and the following brothers and sisters: Joseph, Thomas, Ann and Theresa, at home; Frank, of Warren; Pete, of Falconer, N. Y.; Sgt. Victor, of Pope Field, N. C., who has just arrived home on furlough.

In an Associated Press dispatch to the Times-Mirror today, Lee McCardell, Baltimore Sun war correspondent, lists Pvt. William J. Madigan, of Warren, as one of 170 American soldiers freed by the U. S. Third Army's 11th Armored Division in its advance on Cham. He states that "all are suffering from malnutrition, but army medical authorities say none is in serious condition."

Better Take New Hitch In The Belt

Washington, May 1—(AP)—Americans were told today a "diet" will be maintained despite a 25 per cent slash in sugar rations and the prospect of higher point values for other foodstuffs.

Further civilian belt tightening was foreshadowed when: 1. Samuel I. Rosenman, presidential food scout, recommended that the United States should supply a "substantial share" of civilian needs in northwest Europe. He acknowledged this probably would cut into homefront food supplies.

2. The inter-agency committee on foreign shipments said "we shall have to make some adjustments in particular foods" and hinted at high ration points for fats and oils.

At the same time mounting sentiment was evidenced in congress for one-man control of all food matters, now divided among the OPA, the War Food Administration and other agencies

RED BANNER FLOATS OVER REICHSTAG

Victory - Flushed Russian Troops Make Supreme Bid To Deal Death Blow To Flaming Capital

WAGE FINAL ASSAULT

London, May 1—(AP)—Victory-flushed Soviet troops made a supreme bid to deal the death blow to flaming Berlin on this May Day. In the words of Marshal Stalin it was the "final assault."

A Red victory banner floated over the smoking ruins of the Reichstag, where Hitler rose to power from the ashes of the Reichstag fire of 1933. Heinrich Himmler's ministry of the interior was in Russian hands. Red army troops laid siege to the fuhrer's underground fortress in the Tiergarten. The Russians were at the Brandenburg gate, Berlin's triumphal arch, and across the Spree river from Berlin's cathedral.

Die-hard German remnants were compressed in the center of the blazing inferno that is Berlin, stubbornly keeping street crossings under a murderous cross fire and "killing in the process the civilian population of the city," a supplementary Moscow communique declared.

As a German broadcast conceded that the 11-day battle for the gutted capital was as good as lost, Marshal Stalin in a special order of the day said the Russian people were celebrating May Day "under conditions of the victorious termination of the great patriotic war."

Other victories were being scored far to the south. The Fourth Ukrainian army of Gen. Andrei I. Yermenko seized Maravsk-Ostava, vital war center known as "The Pittsburgh of Czechoslovakia." Calvary of the Second Ukrainian army plunged through the Morava river valley toward a junction that would roll up the German salient in eastern Moravia.

North of Berlin Marshal Konstantin K. Rokossovsky's Second White Russian army and elements of Marshal Gregory K. Zhukov's First White Russian army sped across the north German plain on a 100-mile front, shattered the enemy line on the Stralsund-Berlin railroad, and captured Greifswald and Wolgast, cutting the last rail and highway connections to the island of Usedom, upon which are located the important Baltic naval base of Swinemunde and Peenemuende, site of a V-bomb experimental station.

Greifswald is 18 miles southeast of the port of Stralsund.

Along the Stralsund-Berlin railroad, the Russians also seized the important communications centers of Treptow, Neustrelitz, Strelitz, Fuerstenberg and Gransee. At one point Rokossovsky's troops had driven within 42 miles of Rostock. Along the railroad they had rolled within 75 miles of Field Marshal Montgomery's British on the Elbe.

50,000 Yanks Are Liberated At Stalag 7A

By EDWARD D. BALL

With the U. S. 14th Armored Division, May 1—(AP)—In high spirits 50,000 Americans, half of them air force officers, almost mobbed 14th Armored Division tankmen today in one of the wildest liberations ever witnessed in Germany.

The Americans were among 130,000 Allied prisoners—including 37 high-ranking officers—freed at Stalag 7A and in the towns around Moosburg where the Germans had the highest concentration of prisoners in Germany.

In contrast to the starvation conditions prevailing in the other liberated camps, the prisoners in the Moosburg area for the most part were in good physical condition. This was due to the presence among the prisoners of a number of Allied officers, including many colonels.

At Stalag 7A in Moosburg, where 37,000 prisoners, including 14,891 Americans, were kept, there were 175,000 Red Cross food packages on hand when the camp was liberated.

CRUDE OUTPUT REPORT

Tulsa, Okla., May 1—(AP)—Daily average crude oil production in the United States for the week ending April 28 has broken another record with a total of 4,812,000 barrels per day or 10,300 barrels higher than the previous high of April 14. The Oil and Gas Journal said today.

Peace Announcement May Be Made Before Saturday Churchill Tells Commons

Soft Coal Contract Is Given Okay As Anthracite Dispute Goes To War Labor Board

BULLETIN

Washington, May 1—(AP)—Secretary Ickes took note today of coal mining stoppages and said he was ready to take over both bituminous and anthracite mines for government operation. After a White House call, Ickes said he reported to President Truman that almost all hard coal operations were suspended and that soft coal miners were going out. "The president told me that that was the worst news he has had this morning," he added.

New York, May 1—(AP)—With an estimated 72,000 hard coal miners already idle, contract negotiations between anthracite operators and the United Mine Workers ended in a deadlock again today as both sides adjourned their meeting with a terse "no comment."

Negotiations for a new contract to replace the one which expired at midnight last night will be resumed at 2 p. m. tomorrow.

Thomas B. Kennedy, UMW secretary-treasurer, and J. B. Warner, spokesman for the operators, said after today's meeting that neither side would have any comment.

Earlier today, Maj. William W. Inglis, chairman of the operators' negotiating committee, issued a statement for the operators which rejected proposals by Secretary of Labor Perkins for settlement of the industry's wage dispute.

The hard coal contract expired last midnight, and work stoppages in the anthracite pits were prepared for, despite a WLB order to continue production under terms of the expired agreement. The board promised any wage agreements would be made retroactive to today.

An 11th hour effort by Labor Secretary Perkins to persuade the miners and anthracite operators, meeting in New York, to agree to a contract she proposed failed.

Lewis later said his scale committee had voted unanimously to "advise anthracite workers to resume work when the anthracite operators accept Secretary of Labor Perkins' recommendation for a new contract."

He declined further comment after Miss Perkins hurried back to Washington and certified the case to the WLB.

If it follows the pattern set in the bituminous negotiations a month ago, the board will ask both sides to extend the contract another 30 days to permit continued negotiations. The soft coal operators and Lewis signed a contract 11 days after agreeing to an extension.

Davis approved the bituminous agreement last night, a few hours before that 30-day extension would have expired.

Senate Rejects F. E. P. C. Measure

Harrisburg, May 10—(AP)—The senate put the clincher on the defeat of fair employment practice legislation at the 1945 session of the general assembly.

The upper branch rejected 28-18 in a straight party vote last night a Democratic move to bring to the floor a bill to set up an independent commission to handle the task of combating job discrimination because of race, creed, color or national origin.

The spectators gathered in the gallery after recessing a capitol protest meeting against failure of the legislature to act on FEPC measures. The group later reconvened and agreed to return here Friday to press again for action.

In the protest meeting, called by the state coordinating committee of bipartisan committees for FEPC, nearly a dozen speakers denounced the Republican legislative majority for failure to act on the question at the present session.

Resignation of Black Is Accepted

Washington, May 1—(AP)—President Truman today accepted the resignation of Ramsey S. Black as third assistant postmaster general effective May 6.

Black resigned to take over his new duties as state treasurer of Pennsylvania, a position to which he was elected last November.

Press Secretary Daniels who made the announcement said he had no information on Black's successor in the post office department.

Daniels had nothing to say today concerning reports that President Truman has decided on Robert E. Hannegan to be postmaster general. Hannegan is chairman of the Democratic national committee.

Frank C. Walker, the present postmaster general, indicated some time ago a desire to give up his cabinet post, but recently told reporters that no final decision has been made.

BERNADOTTE RETURNS TO STOCKHOLM

Prime Minister Declares He Has No Special Statement To Make But War Is Going Satisfactorily

ENVOY STILL SILENT

BULLETIN

By the Associated Press
Stockholm, May 1—Count Folke Bernadotte flew back to Stockholm from Copenhagen today and a well-informed American said he might be bearing a German-Swedish agreement for peaceful surrender of Nazi troops in both Denmark and Norway. The Swedish nobleman refused to say, upon arriving here, whether he had brought from Denmark a new communication from Heinrich Himmler, chief of the German gestapo.

BULLETIN

New York, May 1—(AP)—The Stockholm radio said the Swedish foreign office announced today that Count Folke Bernadotte "did not bring any new message to hand to the Allies through the industry's wage dispute," was recorded by the FCC.

By LEWIS HAWKINS

London, May 1—(AP)—Prime Minister Churchill hinted today that announcement of peace in Europe might come before Saturday, but told a packed house of commons that he had no statement at this time.

He answered questions in the house as Swedish Count Folke Bernadotte conferred in Stockholm with Erik Boheman, under-secretary of state in the Swedish foreign office, after a quick flight from Copenhagen.

He continued: "Should information of importance reach his majesty's government during the four days of our sittings this week—as it might—I will ask Mr. Speaker's permission to ask the indulgence of the house to interrupt business and make a brief announcement."

"Good news will not be delayed," he said in answer to Lady Astor's question whether, if peace news came while the house was adjourned, he would hold it until commons sat, or would release it through the BBC.

Churchill said frankly that he expected two-day celebrations to begin immediately that a "cease fire" order is given, and that the instructions were made for "minimum staffs" in every department, including stores and government offices.

The prime minister indicated a peace announcement not only might precede final surrenders, but that such surrenders might not be worth an additional announcement.

The fact that he made no mention of Himmler's final surrender offer to the United States and or of a second one which the gestapo chief is widely believed to have submitted, suggested the government is planning now only to advise the house on the outcome of negotiations, and not upon the course of negotiations.

Dachau Represents the Last Word In Savagery of Nazis

By LOUIS P. LOCHNER

Dachau, Germany, May 1—(AP)—Every soldier, officer and war correspondent attached to the 42nd (Railbow) Division of the U. S. Seventh army today had one word seared into his soul—"Dachau."

It represents the last word in savagery, depravity, sadism and inhumanity. Here human beings were experimented on as though they were guinea pigs, were eliminated by slow starvation, and their bodies burned wholesale in a gigantic crematory. Thirty-five railway cars loaded with corpses emanated literally to skin and bones are lined up outside the camp.

Among Dachau's 32,000 inmates are some 1,400 living corpses. These were the survivors of about 4,000 who had been shipped, according to the best information available, from Buchenwald before the Allies took that northern concentration camp. "They had been squeezed like cattle into freight cars, where they were kept for 21 days, 80 to a car. According to their testimony they were left without food for five days, and thereafter given mere scraps. In the crematory there was a stench that made the strongest men turn pale and flee to the outside for air. In two rooms of this institution were naked human bodies, bearing the signs of horrible torture and piled to the ceiling. There was evidence that a section of the prison camp had been given over to scientific experimentation on human being to study the effects of various types of gas, varying air pressure, degrees of cold and serum.

Grand Valley School Pupils March From Blazing Building

Prompt discovery of a fire and quick response by volunteers of the Grand Valley community about 1:30 p. m. yesterday doubtless saved the borough school building from serious damage if not destruction.

The fire apparently started in the dry shingle roof from sparks from the chimney and the flames were discovered by a man driving along the highway. Fire was burning briskly on the roof.

Immediately the teachers, Mrs. Watson and Miss Atkins, were informed of the fire and under their direction the children marched in an orderly manner from the building.

After the general alarm had been given, a call for assistance was telephoned to the Titusville Fire Department and a truck with five men went at once.

William Marino, a retired fireman of Titusville who happened to be in the borough, directed the forming of a bucket brigade, which had the fire all but extinguished when the Titusville firemen arrived. Water was obtained from the well on the school property and from another on an adjoining property.

A hole several feet in diameter was burned in the roof and some damage was done by water to the ceiling beneath.

School had been in session only a short time when the fire was discovered, and because of the excitement it caused, the children were not required to return for the rest of the afternoon.

The school district carries insurance which will cover the loss, and repairs to the roof will probably be made today. As a precaution, after the villagers began to arrive, much of the movable equipment in the two rooms was removed to safety at one corner of the school lot. This included chairs, books and other material. The seats are screwed to the floor.

The Grand Valley school is located on Route 27, only about a block south from the main corners. There are 23 pupils in the primary department and 26 in the advanced room.

BENEFIT PARTY

Townsend Club No. 2 is holding a series of games Wednesday evening for the benefit of the D. L. McGuire family, recently burned out at Smith's Corners. There are seven children, of ages 8 to 17 years, and it is hoped there will be a fine turnout and a generous sum realized for them.

HOME WAS BURNED

Friday last the home of Mr. and Mrs. Emmett Holmes, of Torpedo was burned to the ground. An overheated chimney was evidently the cause of the fire. Mrs. Holmes and her baby were alone at the time as Mr. Holmes is employed in Titusville. Little was saved from the blazing home. The place was formerly known as the Rockwell farm before Mr. Holmes took possession. The family carried no insurance and their loss was a heavy one. They are now living with relatives at Garland.

No three president of the United States have ever been related.

Rocket Weapons and Experts In Their Use Are Here Today

One of the most unusual exhibits that has been made in Warren is today at the plant of the Struthers Wells Company. Two large trucks loaded with war material captured from the Germans as well as from the Japanese and with rockets of various kinds including the wing of a Heinkel plane with its rockets are shown. While the men were assembling the Struthers Wells band played several selections.

Due to inclement weather the meeting and display at the Struthers Wells plant was held indoors. At 11 o'clock the first demonstration was given before the employees of the day shift of the local plant along with executives of many of the city's industries. A showing was planned for 1:30 but this had to be postponed and at 4 o'clock another showing for men of the last shift, executives of other plants and guests will be held and at 7 o'clock families of employees be given an opportunity to see the display.

Clem Wolsteneroff presided at the meeting at 11 o'clock and he introduced Lieut. (jg) James Charron, USN, of Pennsylvania. He is a veteran of the Aleutians and Marshalls campaigns in the latter engagement commanding a rocket firing LCI gunboat.

John O'Donnell AMM 1/c who flew in a rocket firing TEF "Avenger" in recent Pacific actions also spoke. He gave some interesting tales of the fight with the Japs and at one time was forced to fly out and spend 50 hours on a life raft. Finally he reached land and spent several weeks with native guerilla forces before rejoining the U. S. Fleet.

Gunners Mate Second Class Amos Connor, a 23 year old veteran from Oklahoma represented the amphibious force. He has served all through several of the island campaigns and an LCI gunboat and is thoroughly sold on the worth of rockets in battles on land, sea and air.

Corporal Thomas Cleary, U. S. Marine Corps closed the speech making and he gave some very interesting matter relative to the radio controlled baby tank used by the Germans for blowing up pill boxes, etc. He also described the other weapons on the two big trucks and pointed with pride to the U. S. Rockets which are so useful in subduing the Japanese.

All of the men are thoroughly sold on the use of rockets and all seem to agree that the American rocket is the best in use by any of the armies or navies in the war today.

Tomorrow evening at 7:30 in the large court room the retail employers participating in the coming bond drive and their employees will have the opportunity of viewing this exhibit and hearing the four veterans speak. The meeting should be intensely interesting and a large crowd is anticipated.

Youth Week Is Observed By Rotarians

Two very interesting talks were given at the Rotary Club yesterday on "Youth Is The Future" in observance of Boys and Girls Week. James Farrell, president of the senior class and president of the H. Y. of the Warren High School was the first speaker. He had three points in his talk. The first, Environment, second, School, and third, example set by elders. James did a very good job on his subject, talking for the youth of the community.

The Rotarians were then privileged to hear Judge Allison Wade talk on the same three points that James Farrell had given. Although the two men did not agree upon everything there was much seed for thought.

BERLIN: The City that Was---and Is---

AP Newsfeatures
Berlin, Germany's capital and metropolis, was a thriving industrial city. Today it is largely a city of wrecks and ruins, the result of sustained Allied air blows. In the Berlin area are scores of vital industrial targets, electrical works, engine, armament and airplane factories. These pictures, released to neutral sources by the Nazis, show only damage to non-military buildings, but they do indicate how great must have been the destruction of war plants.

Farewell For Helen Spencer Marine Enlistee

Youngsville, April 30—Mr. and Mrs. Frank Black were host and hostesses at the Methodist Church party held at their home on Highland avenue on Thursday evening. The hostess was assisted by Miss Goldie Hill, Miss Phyllis Brennehan and Miss Doris Jones.

Games were played and several little contests with small prizes were enjoyed. The honor guest was Miss Helen Spencer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Spencer, a member to the choir, who expects to leave early this week for Camp Lejeune, N. C., where she will be a member of the United States Marine Corps Women's Reserve. While at Camp Lejeune she will be trained in military courtesy and tactics and later be assigned to a Marine Corps base. Miss Helen, who will be greatly missed in our community, was given a little going away gift by the choir members.

Later in the evening refreshments were served by the hostesses.

COLEMAN-BURROWS

Youngsville people and others in Warren County will be interested in this April wedding in St. Paul's Episcopal church of Erie, Pa. At which time Dean Francis B. Blodgett united in marriage Miss Sally Burrows daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd B. Burrows of Davis street, Youngsville. The bride party were attended by Major and Mrs. Robert M. Fry. Only the immediate families were guests, and a dinner for the group at the Ford Hotel followed the ceremony.

The bride wore a grey and green checked suit with a corsage of gardenia, and her attendant blue afternoon dress with brown and blue checked clothes and matching top-coat. Her corsage was of red roses. After a short wedding trip the young people returned to Erie where they are now making their home.

The bride is a graduate of Youngsville high school and Jamestown Business College and is now employed with the Ham-mill Paper Co. of Erie while the groom, who is a graduate of St. Vincent high school of Erie and the G. E. Apprentice school, is employed by the General Electric Company of Erie.

The Junior Class of the Youngsville high school enjoyed an outing last week at a cottage on Chautauqua Lake. The young people and their teachers. A good supper was followed by a merry evening. Two members of the class, Warren Carr, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Carr and Miner Swanson son of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Swanson were honor guests. These young men expect soon to enter U. S. Service.

NEIGHBORHOOD PARTY

Mrs. Ralph Horner of West Main street entertained last week at a neighborhood party honoring Mrs. Kenneth Dinney. A pleasant time was reported and Mrs. Dinney was presented a gift from those present. The party was a farewell from the West Main Street Extension neighborhoods as Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Dinney are moving from West Main street extension to Fifth Street in Youngsville. The home in which they have resided has been purchased by Mr. and Mrs. Plummer Moutier who expects to occupy the home.

LOCALS

The evening group of the WSCS will be held at the home of Mrs. A. M. Schnell with Mrs. Gerald Mix assisting hostess.

The afternoon group are to enjoy a little play by a group of Girl Scouts, Friday afternoon. The study book lesson from "West of the Date Line" will include an interesting experience of a Warren County pastor, when a few years ago he was a missionary in Malaya.

Maynard Sullivan, who has seen service in North Africa and Italy, is now spending a 45 day leave with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Sullivan and other relatives.

School Sales Reach Total Of $65,937.53

Total sales of war bonds and stamps in the borough schools from September to April, inclusive, have reached the sum of $65,937.53, according to reports received from the office of Superintendent John G. Rossman.

By schools, these totals are as follows for the full period: High, $11,759.30; Beatty, $15,875.55; East, $16,320.65; Home, $4,116.60; Johnson, $5,105.40; Lacy, $5,393.28; McClintock, $1,261.75; Seneca, $1,207.20; South, $4,897.50.

Seneca and Home street buildings led all others in the school district in 100 per cent participation for April 23 sales. Totals for this period were $791.70, with an additional $170.64 to bring the grand total to $962.34. Of this amount, the high school had $166.10 in sales. Other buildings, with savings, sales and totals, are as follows:

Tired Kidneys Often Bring Sleepless Nights

Doctors say your kidneys contain 15 miles of tiny tubules which help to purify the blood and keep you healthy. When they get tired and don't work right in the daytime, many people have to get up at night. Frequent urination, backache, rheumatism, sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder. Don't neglect this condition and lose valuable, restful sleep. When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may also cause nagging backache, rheumatism, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, most successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Stray Leaves From Notebook Of Reporter About Town

This week ends the current, whiskey rationing period. Another four-week period is expected to be set by the State Liquor Board to start May 7. War ration book three likely will be used again as there is space on the inside cover for another store stamp. . . . Reports are that Selective Service Boards are under orders to reduce deferments during May especially among men of the 18 to 29 age group. State headquarters is pointing out that the boards have lagged during March and April in meeting quotas but admitted the overall picture was better than that of some months ago. The report emphasizes that registrants in the 29 year age group could not be deferred unless employers had filed Form 42-A. . . . John Mehalich who investigated the Airport murder case in this county will have a birthday today completing 15 years with the State Police. He has established an outstanding record as an investigator and friends at Erie are throwing a party for him today. . . . The Babson forecast declares that the new cars will be rolling from assembly lines in Detroit and elsewhere this fall. The tire and wage situations are the big bottlenecks but it predicts these will be ironed out in the next few months. . . . Construction work on the new addition to the Pickett Hardware store is under way. Forms are being placed for the pouring of concrete. . . . The end of Selective Service is not in sight but there is a promising indication that it is not going to last too long. General Hershey has sent a directive to all boards giving detailed instructions as to what records are to be forwarded to state headquarters and which records are to be destroyed. None of these orders are to be carried out until each step is ordered from Washington in future directives. . . .

Wonder what ever became of the Moomaw-Moran Bill up in the State Legislature in 1935. Under collection of Warren county taxes would cost $3,491 as against $16,718 back in 1932. A mere item of about $12,000 saved to the taxpayers ought to be welcome. Why not revive the darned thing? . . .

Just read a reprint of the article written by Walter Adams in Better Homes and Gardens "Can Our Schools Teach the G. I. Way?" It tells of the use of pictures in teaching. Every person could read the little booklet to advantage as seemingly if Adams is right a lot of time is being wasted in the schools. . . . And while we're roaming around we might as well report the happening at Sheldon Hall on Chautauqua Lake last Tuesday evening. . . . more than a dozen witnesses on shore watched a duck desperately flapping its wings some 300 feet off-shore. . . . two fishermen finally rowed out to the duck and Mr. and Mrs. Sigvard Peterson and Frank Woodring found the duck was firmly clamped in the jaws of a large muskallonge. . . . the fish released his hold as the boat approached but the duck was apparently too seriously injured to take wing and was last seen drifting toward the center of the lake. . . . a number of Warren musky fishermen have often speculated on the possibility of the big tiger fish hitting the ducks—and this story of an actual happening during the current week is well authenticated.

Never so darned surprised as we were yesterday when Frank Clemmons called and brought us a bit of his birthday cake. Frank says he is gradually regaining strength after several months in the hospital. . . . Jerry Manning reports that it snowed so hard between his Stoneham country estate and Warren that he could hardly follow the road. . . . This would have been a heck of a morning to dance in the dew to enjoy a fine complexion. . . . Frost promised for tonight. . . . Kiwanians just about swamped in their task of sorting over the garments sent in as a result of the used clothing drive. Imagine what a lot of ships it will take to move the stuff across the Atlantic when the whole nation gets its used clothing to the seaboard. . . . Many homes being gladdened by word that sons and husbands are being released from the Hun prison camps. . . . Guess even the most skeptical now believe in the general depravity of the German people. . . . Makes a fellow take sides with the Russians who realistically want the Huns so re-built the country they destroyed and pay and pay and pay. . . . May 1st, 1908 saw the ground covered with several inches of snow and a woman called this morning to say snow shovels were busy that morning. . . .

Special Study Planned By Episcopalians

Trinity Memorial Episcopal Church joins with Episcopal parishes throughout the country in an intensive study of the work being done by the church beyond the limits of parish or diocese.

The Rev. Becher M. Rutledge, rector of Trinity Memorial church, explains that the study, organized by the national headquarters of the church, bishops all over the country, clergy of parishes, and lay readers, both men and women, is to assure that the rank and file of church people are thoroughly informed of the needs of the church immediately after the war.

Word has reached Episcopal headquarters in New York of the destruction of church buildings and other church property in occupied China. The bishop of the Philippine Islands has cabled news of heavy property losses there, including total destruction of the beautiful Cathedral, and information is being gathered rapidly as to replacements and repairs that will be needed, all growing directly from the war.

In addition Episcopal church people are to be informed of tremendous opportunities for advance in the Orient, in Latin America, and other overseas mission fields, and of similarly challenging opportunities in the United States, for work with Negroes, American Indians, transplanted industrial workers and Japanese-Americans, most of these opportunities arising indirectly from the war.

Each month attention will be concentrated upon one field of work. During the month of May the subject is the work of the Episcopal church in the Philippine Islands. Material for study has been prepared by national church officers, assisted by missionaries who have worked in the Philippines. Sermons will be preached on the island work, parish organizations will discuss it, church school classes will study it, and the Woman's Auxiliary, important in all Episcopal church activities, will organize study groups, meetings to hear speakers from the Philippines. . . . all of this in Episcopal parishes and missions throughout the country.

The study topic for June will be announced in the near future.

CODDLING PRISONERS

Although many of the stories now in circulation are false, it seems to be true that we are treating captured Germans with a gentle consideration that is in marked contrast with the way the Nazis have treated many of our men.

In a series of news-column articles received by the Times-Mirror from NEA Service it was reported how German prisoners are treated and fed at Fort Devens, Mass., where it would appear that they are particularly well contented; and the special situation that controls volunteers in Italian Service Units was explained.

Provost Marshal General Lerch offers three arguments in justification of the excellent care we give to these prisoners:

First, he says that International Red Cross agents report that, up to the time the Reich began falling apart under General Eisenhower's blows, the Nazis were living up to their Geneva Convention obligations toward Americans and Britishers, however cruelly they treated other nationalities.

Second, he says that word of our kindness toward prisoners, reaching German troops, caused them to surrender more readily and thus saved Allied lives.

And finally, he points out that the Geneva Convention is the supreme law of the land, and until it is amended he is duty-bound to administer it unwaveringly.

There seems to be very strong evidence that the Nazis, in many instances at least, were not living up to their Convention commitments even before we crossed the Rhine—that, in many cases, our men were not getting either the food or the treatment that General Lerch was told they were getting.

On the other hand, there is evidence that, up to recently at least, we could have been considerably more strict with our prisoners-of-war without offending the Geneva Convention and still have made captivity more attractive than belligerency to any German but a rabid party-man.

But while American prisoners in Germany did not get full benefit of Geneva Convention rights, it seems that they really were better fed, treated better, in general, than any prisoners except perhaps Britons. There is evidence that our surrender propaganda did fall on more willing ears because we were, perhaps, over-kind to prisoners, and thereby more of our sons, husbands, brothers, friends will come home.

It may well be that General Lerch's policy has been the sound one.

SLIPPERY CUSTOMER

There have been suggestions that Herr von Papen, who went to his hunting lodge to await capture, might be used to form a post-Hitler government for the Reich. That idea indicates either lamentable ignorance of Von Papen or a shockingly low idea of Allied intelligence.

Whatever his relations with Hitler, Von Papen always has been high in that Junker group that is willing to fight a dozen wars, if necessary, to lay all Europe waste, including Germany, to commit any atrocious act, in order that the Hun eventually may rule the world. He is a slimy, slippery customer. It would be hard to find any other German less desirable.

The goal of the United National Clothing Collection is high up in the millions of pounds—and according to all reports a full quota of that weight has been lifted by patriotic citizens of the borough and county through the Kiwanis Club pickup.

It appears from Associated Press news received by this paper German civilians who have been lucky enough to be saved from the German soldiers now want the Americans to save them from the Russians.

A new shoe ration stamp will be good August first. Even though you need shoes before then, just be patient—keep your feet on the ground.

Networks Prepare V-E Day Broadcasts

New York, May 1.—(P)—V-E Day on the networks will call for all-out broadcasting, with announced schedules subject to cancellation or drastic alteration.

Each network's program department has been preparing such advance material as is available—dramatizations, special concerts and the like. All are to be fitted in with overseas pickups from London, Paris, the battle zones, the Pacific areas and other points.

While a certain amount of jubilation is expected, a theme of all the broadcasts is centering on "there's still Japan to lick."

ELECTRIC BRAIN

An electric brain has been developed which makes it possible to machine giant propellers for our fighting planes 700 per cent faster than was formerly possible. A tracer automatically guides two sharp cutting tools over the surface of the propeller model to be cut and makes it possible to do in two days the job that formerly took two weeks.

The suphite process, invented in 1867, made possible the substitution of cheap wood for costly rags in paper-making.

ASTOR COLUMN

Atop of Coxcomb Hill the Astor Monument reaches skyward, close to the site of the first permanent settlement in Oregon. Captain Robert Gray on a trading mission and his crew were the first white men to visit Astoria, at the mouth of the Columbia River. They came in 1792 and in 1805 Lewis and Clark passed the spot, setting up winter quarters seven miles southwest. The city's location and name were picked by members of a fur trading expedition sent out by the famous John Jacob Astor Company. War Bonds pay for munitions, planes and warships that guard this area so that future generations may enjoy opportunities still untouched there.

Washington in Wartime

By FRANK TRAGLE
(Jack Stinnett is ill)

WASHINGTON—If your radio reception has been inferior or non-existent don't be astonished if the FCC drops in for a call.

The Federal Communications commission and the broadcast industry are interested in learning what type of service millions of the nation's listeners are getting. Under consideration is the most extensive survey of radio listening conditions ever undertaken by a government agency.

FCC's plan is to canvass the homes of listeners who live outside primary service areas—that is, beyond the limits of a station's assured interference-free service. This would involve sending out some 200 thousand mail questionnaires, supplemented by personal interviews in 50 to 70 representative counties.

10,000,000 persons, is outside the daytime service area of any standard broadcast station, (2) that 57 per cent of the area, containing 21,000,000 persons, lies outside the primary service area.

In other words, 10,000,000 persons don't get any programs at all during the day, and 21,000,000 persons are without what the commission considers adequate service even at night.

As Chairman Paul A. Porter of the FCC said recently, the persons without adequate service are residents of isolated rural areas who rely most on radio for contact with the outside world.

RESEARCH men from the budget and census bureaus and the Agriculture Department are giving the commission a lift in planning the sampling.

The commission hopes too that the broadcast industry will come through with suggestions. It has invited the networks and other radio groups to share the costs of the study with the commission—for it is a subject in which all persons associated with radio are interested—but has announced that it will go ahead with the canvass whether the industry joins in or not.

The commission hopes to complete the survey by mid-summer so that its experts can join with industry engineers in studying the whole problem.

Very high power stations are not new. From 1934 to 1939 station WLW in Cincinnati operated under a special service authorization of 500,000 watts—10 times today's maximum. In Mexico there are some stations operating on 150,000 watts. The problem is to set up the high power stations so that they will provide a maximum of service without becoming such commercial giants that lesser-powered stations would have difficulty competing for advertising.

Chapter 19

The apartment stifled her. She had a hysterical feeling she'd have to get out of it for a while before she went to bed or she would never be able to sleep. She had to get better control of herself. Tom had his back to the door, dialing a number on the telephone when she returned to the living room. His voice was low and furtive and Brenda quickly realized he was steering the conversation so that the person on the other end of the line would pick up his cues and do the talking.

"Why all this subterfuge," Brenda thought wearily, as she started to clean up the room. It was all so dreary—so sordid. This silly air of intrigue and mystery Tom was putting around everything he did these days irritated and harassed her. The sooner there was an end to the mockery of their living together, the better it would be for both of them. This sort of thing could not go on.

But she found she was too tired to even attempt to straighten up the living room. A short walk might clear her head, which was now aching so she knew she could not sleep. As she went into the bedroom she picked up the bundle of old newspapers lying on the desk and threw it in the laundry hamper in the bathroom. Tom was still talking on the telephone. While she was in the kitchen he had thrown his soiled bathing suit on the floor. Leaning over, she gingerly picked it up and rolled it into a bundle with a disreputable beach robe lying on a bathroom chair. She threw them both on top of the package of old newspapers and then, without a word, walked out of the apartment.

CHRISTOPHER was in a chair beside Brenda's desk as the closing time gong sounded in the store the next afternoon. The tall young man with his well-brushed brown hair and his faultlessly tailored brown suit, had a surge

Thumbnail Sketch of the Issue Over Poland and Argentina

By JAMES MARLOW

San Francisco, May 1.—(P)—Here's a thumbnail sketch of why all the argument about Poland and Argentina at the United Nations no-more-war conference.

The question was: Should those two countries be permitted to take part in the conference?

The Latin American countries wanted Argentina here. Russia wanted Poland here.

Remember this: The 46 nations represented here are all members of the United Nations organization, which means:

1. All are at war with the Axis, Germany or Japan.
2. All signed an agreement to fight to a finish and to observe certain principles, such as human rights, freedom, justice.

Neutral and therefore non-member nations—like Sweden and Switzerland—were not invited here.

Argentina wasn't invited because, although it is now at war with the Axis, it is not a member of the United Nations.

It declared war only a month ago—under nudging by other Latin American countries—after trying to sit the war out.

And so far, Argentina has not been signed up as a member of the United Nations.

Poland—Although it is a member of the United Nations, wasn't invited here but for another reason.

The present Polish government—its only a temporary government—was formed by Polish refugees in Russia.

Russia is mightily pleased with this Polish government. But it didn't please President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill.

At Yalta they told Marshal Stalin in the Polish government would democratic and more truly representative of the Polish people.

Stalin agreed. This was part of the Yalta agreement. That was several months ago. The Polish government hasn't been revised.

Because the agreement wasn't fulfilled, Poland was not invited to the conference.

Yesterday Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov went before one of the committee which run the conference. He suggested Poland be invited.

But then a request that Argentina be invited here received committee approval. This got Molotov all steamed up.

So—when the Argentine question moved from committee to full-dress conference session, Molotov got up and argued against it.

The conference listened politely to Molotov and then voted to invite Argentina here.

The conference in full-dress session didn't vote on the question of inviting Poland. As noted, the suggestion was turned down in committee and didn't go before the full conference.

Children Had Close Escape From Drowning

Gerald A. Reynolds, 822, Fourth avenue reports that Sunday two small children, a boy and a girl had a narrow escape from drowning. The children were playing along the banks of the Conewago with their pet dog. They finally came to a boat which was tied up and clambered in. The dog was careful tied to the boat and the children untied the rope holding the boat to the bank. As it went down stream gaining momentum on the rapid waters the children became frightened and leaped out of the boat. Fortunately the water was shallow and they waded ashore.

Then alarmed by the plight of their dog tied in the boat they ran along the bank and finally plunged into the creek in an effort to save their dog. The water swept them both off their feet and if it had not been that Raymond Nelson, who was fishing nearby heard their screams and hauled them out they would have been drowned. Identity of the children was not learned as they ran for home crying after being rescued.

Parents who allow their children to play along the banks of the streams should take warning as there have been a number of tragedies reported in this end of the state this spring as the water in the various streams is high and swift.

Chapter 20

"It is perfect," rhapsodized, Christopher agreed indignantly. "Donohue will have to stop riding you about that cash box. How did things go today? You satisfied?" Brenda nodded, her anxiety vanishing in a quick smile at his question. "I'm surprised and pretty happy over the sale so far. I haven't the totals yet, but I heard a few minutes ago we'd almost equalled yesterday's figures."

"Swell. There were certainly crowds of people on the floor all day."

"At first I was afraid that didn't mean customers. There were so many sight-seers talking about the hold-up."

"And the police were parked over the place. That's all right by me if they get anywhere."

Brenda sighed. "They found my finger prints on the cash box with Irene's. There were evidently no other prints on the box. The lock was wrecked. That's a complete set-up for Donohue. I seem to have assumed a terrific responsibility when I told Irene she could go down to the cashier with that box! I guess my guardian angel has been taking a vacation since I came to Humbert's!"

Christopher laughed. "Oh, I wouldn't let it get me down. There are always certain things you have to take for granted in a store. Robberies for instance. They are bound to happen in every store from time to time, human nature being what it is. But this kind of dishonesty doesn't touch you personally, just because you happen to be the head of the department where it occurs."

"There are things that never change—in store and out of stores—you have to accept that fact. For instance—"

HE was standing very close to her desk, grinning down at her, and suddenly she looked up at him, Brenda felt her vague, formless fears slipping away. After all, it wouldn't hurt to relax a little now and then. She had been on a tension for days. "That's better," he nodded his approval as she leaned back in her chair and smiled at him. "Every night," he continued solemnly. "It's the same thing—I never change. I always have dinner. Tonight I want you to have dinner with me. Will you?"

His voice vibrated with a softer inflexion as he asked the question. Brenda, who had been following him with amused attention leaned forward abruptly and her wide grey eyes darkened as she thought of the work she had scheduled for herself that evening. She thought of Tom and the dinner Hannah was cooking for them—all valid reasons for declining his invitation. Then having faced the facts, with true feminine logic she promptly said she would have dinner with Christopher! After all, life had been a pretty grim business for her this last month.

Quickly they made their plans. Christopher would order dinner at his club where they would dine on a terrace high above the city, and Brenda would meet him there later after she had attended to a few things at home.

AS she opened the door to her apartment Brenda heard Francine Norman's voice. She recognized it instantly. Once before she had come home unexpectedly and heard the same high-pitched querulous voice shouting at Tom behind the closed doors of the living room. Then as now they were quarreling. Brenda had never seen the girl, but she knew she ran the "26" game at the Club Boulevard and when a man called Rizzo, Pete Rizzo, wasn't there Francine was the keeper of the hand-book and a parttime bartender. Now something seemed to have gone wrong. She heard their voices rising in a crescendo of anger, easily audible through the thin walls of the apartment.

Walking swiftly past the closed doors she went directly to the kitchenette to tell Hannah she would not be home for dinner that evening. But the maid was not there. Late as usual, Brenda thought grimly. That means the marketing had been left until the last minute.

Well, for one night at any rate, she would not have to face this dreary domestic scene, which each day slipped deeper into chaos. Soon it would all be only a cold, dreary memory. Hastily scribbling a note for Hannah on the back of an old grocery bill, she propped it up on the shelf over the sink and almost ran to the bedroom.

She had a panic urge to get out of the apartment before the two in the living room knew she had been there. As she dressed, a vague sense of loneliness, almost of sadness, swept over her as she realized that this miserable back-ground was all that was left of her home. Rushing through a lightning change, within a very few minutes she was back again in the darkened hall. She was stepping softly and swiftly toward the door when suddenly she heard Tom's voice, and there was something in the way he spoke that made her stiffen with a strange premonition of danger.

More Than 200 In Recreation Group Friday Pageant of Honors Wilder In County Girl Scouts Farewell Function

More than 200 girls and women will take part in the Girl Scout anniversary pageant, "Freedom is a Woman", which will be given in the high school auditorium at 8 p. m. Friday, and all interested friends are extended a cordial invitation to be present, admission free.

While the majority of the participants are members of the Girl Scout organization, there are several other talented women who are giving their time to help make the affair a success.

Rachel Mahaffy, who takes the symbolic role of Freedom, is known for outstanding successes in productions of the Warren Players' Club. Mr. Hyatt has assisted with Senior Girl Scout Troop 17.

The vocal quartet, composed of Miss Viola Lindmark, Mrs. Herbert Harris, Mrs. Foster Maze and Miss Evelyn Wolstencroft, with Mrs. Clarence Swanson as accompanist, will attract many music lovers who never lose an opportunity to hear the group. The quartet will sing during Episodes Three and Six of the pageant, in token of the fact that while women of many lands have worked and marched and fought in wars of many centuries, they have never fought for the love of it, but rather for love of the peace which they hoped to win for their children to enjoy.

Miss Martha Fuller, honorably discharged from the United States Navy, and Miss Florence Pontius, cadet nurse, will have a part in Episode Three also.

Mrs. R. Hanson, of Ludlow, not only trained the girls in a Swedish folk dance which is in Episode Seven, but she will accompany the dancers with her Swedish accordion.

Mrs. Donald Cook, of North Warren, has helped to train the members of Troop 55 who will sing "Swing Low, Sweet Chariot", and "Let My People Go" in Episode Four.

Troop 19, First Lutheran church, has been fortunate in having Mrs. J. B. Leidig to teach the song "These Things Shall Be" which will introduce the finale.

Seniors Deserve Plaudits Given Class Production

Mrs. Phyllis Stanley and seniors who appeared in the cast for "Tune Mad", class play given last Thursday and Friday evenings in the high school auditorium, together with those who designed the set and helped with the backstage end of the production, are wholly deserving of the many nice things that have been said about the two-night stand.

A bigger crowd turned out for the second performance and its members were just as enthusiastic as the first nighters. Nick Geracimos did the honors in presenting Mrs. Stanley with a little remembrance at the end of the second act.

Wholly, but not intentionally, neglected in a previous account of the play was the fine work done by Harry Summers and the High School Orchestra in providing musical entertainment for the two evenings.

Beth Smith was student director, with Virginia Johnson and Helen Huling prompters for the following cast: Juliana Hannold, Charles Euthold, Marilyn Emery, Dick Randall, Jim Farrell, Peggy Flint, Toni Hamilton, Leiland Dole, Nick Geracimos, Khar McDonald, Alice Richards, William MacLaren and Betty Jane Anderson.

The Dramatic Club stagecraft forum had the task of preparing the attractive stage and in assisting Joan Beyer with the makeup. Fred Schaeffer were at the door for tickets and Harriet Thomas, Wilda Bell Haag, Margaret Peterson, Audrey Phillips, Jean Peterson, Barbara Wert, Jean Callard and Maxine Beebe were ushers.

Assisting with the special tasks of production were Sally Armstrong and Barbara Coe, costumes; Allen Woodruff, lightings; Jim Richards, sound effects; Patty Kolpen and Frances Seely, props; Russell Nason, Peter Bohren, Fred Schaeffer and Jay White, stage; David Spies, publicity; Violet Merchant, tickets.

Another Picture Book - Story Hour At Public Library

Many of the small children who attended the public library's first picture book and story hour have been asking when they could have another one. So a special visit to the library has been planned again for this coming Friday, when Mrs. Betty Archibald will introduce another group of books to the children who haven't yet started the first grade in school.

Each period is limited to 15 in number. Three have been arranged for Friday afternoon. The first is at 1:30; the second at 2 o'clock; and the third at 2:30.

Reservations may be made by telephone or in person. The public library's request is that these reservations be made by Friday noon if possible.

During the time the children are in the story hour room, a member of the library staff will meet with mothers who are waiting for the children. The Parents' Bookshelf section will be the subject for discussion in the Mothers' Hour. There will also be a special display of pre-school books for examination.

She became the bride of Cpl. S. Proffitt Shelton, son of Mrs. Helen Proffitt Minton, of Roanoke, Va., on April 13 in the memorial chapel of the Walter Reed Hospital in Washington, D. C., Major Donald C. Stuart, chaplain, performing the service.

The bride, attended by Virginia Kirk, sister of the bridegroom, wore black accessories and corsage of yellow tea roses with a light grey suit. Pvt. Roy M. Shelton was best man for his nephew. After a reception given by the bride's mother at the Del Rio supper club, the couple left for a southern wedding trip.

Her husband, a paratrooper, who recently returned from two years overseas service, took part in the invasion of Sicily and Italy. He will report at the end of May to Fort Dix, N. Maternity care for the wives and pediatric care for the children of those men in military service who are commissioned officers will particularly benefit through this program.

Miss Goeltz stressed that the school health appropriation, which has been approved for compulsory health examinations for all school children and employees is a great stride toward national health.

Miss Betty Gentelman represented the local State Health Department, Miss Ethel Hodges, the Tuberculosis Association, Miss Constance Frederickson, the Crippled Children's Association, Mrs. Edward Bell, the Red Cross, Mrs. David Ralston, the Department of Public Assistance and Miss Margaret Hoar, the War Relocation Authority. Blue Points Buy Less Than One-Tenth of Diet Need

Under the O. F. A. allowance of 80 blue points per person each month, less than one-tenth the fruits and vegetables which U. S. department of agriculture experts recommend for a minimum low-income diet, can be obtained from commercial canned goods.

At a time when so many housewives are working, and must rely more than ever on the grocers' shelves for quick and easily prepared meals, the return of canned vegetables to the ration list presents a most serious problem.

While frozen fruits and vegetables are rationed, the supply both this winter and next summer is expected to be less than last year; and reserves on pantry shelves both of commercial and home packed foods have been reduced, as a result of optimism, and a substantial drop in home canning in 1944.

Until Victory Gardens can begin their precious contribution of nutritive and appetizing foods to the family table, the average American housewife will find it difficult to provide her family with a balanced nutritious diet.

Let's take a look at the actual amounts of vegetables and fruits their families need each week. The following are excerpts from charts in "Rose's Foundation of Nutrition," modern 4th edition, by MacLeod and Taylor.

Blue Points Buy Under 10% of Diet Needs

Of 11,700 calories which a family of five requires as a daily minimum, department of agriculture experts say a minimum of 1400 to 1640 should come from fruits and vegetables. But blue point allowance, less than 10 points a day, will not buy one-tenth this caloric quota in canned fruits and vegetables.

A family of five, including two moderately active adults and three children of 2, 8 and 14 years respectively, requires for an adequate diet 11,700 calories a day. Of these, the minimum (low income) amount which should be supplied by fruits and vegetables, on the government standard, is 1400 to 1640.

Toward this daily need, canned fruit and vegetables, if obtainable, would contribute as follows:

Blue Points 1116 100

FOOD FOR A WEEK—MODERATE MEALS

	Tomatoes, Citrus, Fruits	Leafy, Green and Yellow Vegetables	Other Vegetables and Fruits	Calorie Requirement
Girls
13 to 15 yrs.	1 lb. 12 oz.	3 lbs. 8 oz.	3 lbs. 4 oz.	2700
16 to 20 yrs.	2 lbs.	3 lbs. 8 oz.	4 lbs. 4 oz.	2900
Women
Moderately Active	2 lbs.	3 lbs. 8 oz.	4 lbs.	2900
Very Active	2 lbs.	3 lbs. 8 oz.	4 lbs.	2900
Sedentary	2 lbs.	3 lbs. 8 oz.	3 lbs. 8 oz.	2100
Boys
13 to 15 yrs.	2 lbs.	3 lbs.	5 lbs.	3200
16 to 20 yrs.	2 lbs.	3 lbs.	5 lbs. 8 oz.	3600
Men
Moderately Active	3 lbs.	3 lbs.	4 lbs.	3000
Very Active	2 lbs.	3 lbs.	5 lbs.	4500
Sedentary	2 lbs.	3 lbs. 8 oz.	3 lbs. 4 oz.	3300

Figuring from this authority, the food needs for a family of four would be about 8 lbs. of tomatoes and citrus fruits, 13½ lbs. leafy, green and yellow vegetables, and 16 lbs. of other vegetables and fruits, per week. The family's blue points will buy only a small fraction of this.

The U. S. department of agriculture has determined nutritive requirements on an income basis, finding that for the low income group 12 to 14 per cent of total calories should be in fruits and vegetables; for medium incomes, 14 to 17 per cent, and for high incomes, 17 to 20 per cent.

This would take 100 points a day, whereas the family allowance (250 per month) is less than 10 points per day. And even if these foods could be obtained, there would remain a deficit below minimum needs of 268 to 328 calories which would have to be made up by potatoes, cabbage, turnips, beets and other fresh or stored vegetables.

In short, no family can obtain an adequate diet on rationed canned fruit and vegetables, and all who lack reserves of canned goods must compete for the limited supplies of unrationed fruit and fresh vegetables, until the season of Victory Gardens again arrives.

Soft Coal Contract Given

Okay as Anthracite Dispute Goes To War Labor Board

Davis accepted the contract without changing a comma. The War Labor Board likewise had approved it in its entirety. The agreement, according to WLB estimates, gives the average miner $1 cents a day more in take-home pay.

The 81 cents figure was reached by WLB statisticians by striking an overall average for the 400,000 soft coal miners. The principal wage adjustment goes to the inside day miner who will receive $1.07 additional for a six-day week. Outside men get a flat increase of $1.07. Tonnage or piece workers get an increase of one-ninth of their earnings, which forces down the average increase to 81 cents.

In allowing the producers price increases to take up extra payroll costs, Davis said OPA later would announce the details. The increases will range from 6 to 30 cents or more a ton, depending on producing factors.

Davis estimated that the new contract would add more than 21 cents to the per-ton cost of producing coal but said the operators could absorb 5 cents of that.

Lewis had joined with the operators in requesting a price increase.

New York, May 1—(A)—Anthracite coal operators, declaring that John L. Lewis had attempted to shift from the union to employers "blame for the hard coal strike" today issued a statement rejecting proposals by Secretary of Labor Perkins for settlement of the industry's wage dispute.

As operators and miners resumed their negotiations, Maj. William W. Inglis chairman of the operators negotiating committee, issued the statement, which said: "The proposal by Secretary Perkins would require an increase in the price of each ton of house heating sizes of anthracite of more than $1. Naturally we cannot agree to any such proposal."

Wilkes-Barre, May 1—(A)—A work holiday has halted all Pennsylvania anthracite production, a Solid Fuels Administration official said today.

Regional Representative Owen Williams said failure of 72,000 miners to report for work today has already cost the nation 190,000 tons of coal.

Nurses' Life Not All Foxholes

By NEA Service

New York, April 30—She went through acres of mud and months of shellfire, but First Lieut. Laura R. Hindman, ANC, who has just returned from frontline service in Italy, speaks right up when she hears people say that "a nurse's life is just one muddy foxhole after another."

"Yes, we worked in mud with shells falling around us, up there in Italy," admits the attractive wearer of the Purple Heart and veteran of two ship sinkings. "But matching these tough times were plenty of wonderful days of sight-seeing and fun during leaves in Capri, Sorrento, Naples, Rome, and Florence."

Lieut. Hindman, who has three brothers in the Army overseas, joined the Army Nurse Corps six months before Pearl Harbor. "I had a hunch the war was coming back in 1941 when I was at Children's hospital in Philadelphia. I knew nurses would be needed and decided to go to the American Red Cross recruiting committee and volunteer."

She has been overseas with a surgical unit since the early days of Casablanca. Following the advance from North Africa, Lieut. Hindman was sometimes only four miles behind the lines as our army took Naples, Cassino, Anzio, Rome and Florence.

Twice the hospital ships she was aboard were bombed out from under her. She was rescued from the first sinking after struggling to keep her head above churning waters for an hour and a half. The second time her ship was hit she was more fortunate and was picked up within a matter of minutes. The Purple Heart was for wounds received after the second sinking.

Lieut. Hindman was in the thick of things on D-Day, too. Standing by with doctors and nurses on a hospital ship lying off the invasion beaches of Normandy, she watched the fighting men go into action. By D-plus-1 the doctors and nurses were fighting their own battle—to save the lives of the casualties brought aboard.

Like every other nurse who has seen long duty overseas, the pretty lieutenant is doing all she can to help recruit replacements for Army nurses still "over there"—ones for whom a long overdue leave still is not in sight because not enough nurses are volunteering for foreign duty.

It was only because a nurse here signed up for overseas duty that Lieut. Hindman could come home to Johnstown, Pa., for a visit with her family. After it's over, she has but one other wish—to return to the front.

MEETING WITH DIFFICULTY

Warren Lodge of Moose is meeting with some difficulty in securing the correct addresses of men in the service to whom the lodge is sending boxes of goodies. To that end contact is being made with the families of the service men who are members of the lodge and they are using their addresses to ship the remembrances. Over 200 boxes are being mailed out each of which contains candy, games, etc., for the men.

FEW MAKE RESPONSE

Cards mailed out about 60 days ago by Ray Thompson of the Registration bureau at the Court House to persons who have not cast a ballot in the past two years have failed thus far to bring much response. There were over 1500 cards mailed and only about 50% have responded. There is expected to be a final rush to register and May 19th is the last day. Arrangements are being made to have the office open on May 18 and 19 until 9 p. m. in order to care for those who wish to register.

Agents Unit Will Elect At Oil City

The Purchasing Agents Association of Northwestern Pennsylvania will hold its monthly meeting at the Hotel Arlington in Oil City on Thursday evening of this week. Following a 6:30 dinner, a business meeting will be held, at which time there will be nomination of officers for the coming year. Reports of standing committees will be followed by a discussion of the workings of the Office of Defense Transportation. This discussion will be led by E. L. Donor, district manager of the ODT from Erie, and Lester Frank, maintenance specialist of the ODT's highway transport department, of Williamsport. Since all members of the Northwestern Association have transportation problems, the talks of these two specialists are timely and should be well received.

Agents are expected to be in attendance from Titusville, Corry, Warren, Bradford, Franklin, Oil City, and Olean, N. Y.
